Secretary's office.

Attended first of U.S.-U.K. talks on psychological warfare.

Had my picture taken by a couple of Department photographers.

Saw John Foster Dulles, who is leaving for France this week, where he is to give a speech before the French National Political Science Institute. I also talked to him about our problem in regard to Tunisia.

Messrs. Humelsine, Durbrow and Berry came in to discuss [redacted] consular appointments in the Middle East.

This afternoon I was briefed on the International Motion Pictures Service by Dr. Compton, Herbert Edwards, Assistant Administrator for that office, and Mr. William Grenoble.

Everett Cook telephoned, turning down the offer of the job of Assistant Secretary-General of NATO.

Attended a long meeting on utilization of manpower in the Secretary's office with Messrs. Thorp, Nitze, Bohlen and Matthews.

This evening we attended a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Matthews in honor of the Secretary and Mrs. Acheson.
